KATLEHO K MOKOENA

I'm a passionate developer and IT professional dedicated to building delightful user experiences, performant frontends, and resilient backends. With a strong foundation in Information Technology, I've excelled as a Web Administrator, Database Administrator, Project Coordinator, and Social Media Manager roles that strengthened my abilities in software maintenance, website management, project execution, and digital engagement. I enjoy solving real problems through clean code, accessible design, and thoughtful collaboration, while leveraging digital platforms to boost brand visibility and audience connection. Driven by continuous learning, I stay ahead of emerging technologies and consistently bring a proactive, solutions-focused mindset to every project.
